AARDVARK FAMILY SERVICES (AFS, INC.) HANDBOOK FOR SUPERVISED VISITATION

This handbook has been prepared for you so that you know what to expect as you begin services with us. This document has been developed with the aim of creating a safe and healthy environment and will be reviewed with you at intake. Please also note that this is intended to be a living document and subject to change with no notice. Every effort will be made to update parties when a change is made.

Aardvark Family Services is a neutral location.
Staff do not favor either parent.

WHAT TO EXPECT WITH SUPERVISED VISITATIONS

When you have children, you never expect to be told by a stranger when, where, and for how long you are entitled to spend time with them. Unfortunately, when court ordered supervised visitation enters the picture, you lose some control over your life for a time and suddenly you see your child(ren) on a schedule.

Supervised visitation can sometimes play an important role in the child custody and visitation process. A court may feel that it is in the child(ren)'s best interests to have a third-party present during parenting time when the parent-child relationship needs to be established or restored, and the child needs time to comfortably adjust. If allegations of physical or psychological abuse were made, there could be a court order resulting in supervised visitation out of caution for the child's safety and well-being.

Regardless of the reason visitation must be supervised, the primary focus is to protect your child(ren) from coming to any harm. If you are under supervision, you might feel that you are being "punished," and presumed guilty of wrongdoing against your child, but this is not necessarily the case. Accusations have turned out to be false, so a better way to view supervision is as an opportunity, with a witness present, to show that you care about contributing to your child(ren)'s health and happiness.

Prior to your first visit, your supervisor will need to review the court order establishing supervised visitation to understand what parameters have been set. This will help facilitate a successful visit by ensuring that you do not engage in behavior that will distress your child and cause the visit to be terminated. The goal is to build the parent-child relationship and deter conduct that will hinder strengthening that bond. Keep in mind that a supervisor does not have any authority to amend any part of an order by the court, so follow all provisions that have been established to ensure that you maximize your parenting time.

WHY USE A VISITATION SERVICE?

While it may feel like you have a babysitter in your midst, someone who agrees to supervise is taking on a large responsibility. He or she must act as an enforcer to restrict inappropriate interactions while blending into the background so as not to interfere with your visit. For instance, a parent accused of abuse may be required to limit physical contact with his or her child(ren). Violating this rule could cause the visit to be terminated to avoid causing your child(ren) to feel uneasy.

Supervision has traditionally taken place at someone's home, or a child-appropriate venue such as a park or zoo. Considering events like the 2009 Powell case in Washington State, new methods for providing supervision have started evolving. Instead of holding parenting time in unpredictable locations, supervised visitation centers have started springing up.

Supervised visitation centers have the ability to provide a more controlled environment. Supervisors can check bags and belongings before a parent or child enters the building, catching any items that are inappropriate or dangerous. Adding video cameras to the premises to prove or disprove an allegation is an invaluable safety mechanism for both parties, and the child. Centers are even equipped with games and activities to make the most of your time with your child. It is an all-around more secure system that is gaining in popularity.

WHAT HAPPENS ON A SUPERVISED VISIT?

A supervisor will be present at all times during the interaction between the parent and child(ren). The supervisor documents observed interactions and conversations during the visit; however, they do not record opinions or make recommendations. The supervisor is responsible for intervening and re-direction of the non-custodial parent if policies are not being followed.

The role of the supervisor is also to help facilitate, as needed, interaction and connections between the parent and child. Additionally, the supervisor can assist with parenting questions, like how to discipline with time-outs and how to change a diaper.

Although relatives may visit, the visitations are primarily aimed at maintaining, improving, or establishing the parent/child relationship. There are many types of activities that can happen during a visit: families can assemble meals in our small kitchen, play board games and video games, create arts and crafts, read books together, or engage in imaginative play with toys. We have things at Aardvark to do, but parents may also bring age-appropriate activities.

We understand that being supervised during visitation may feel uncomfortable at first, but parents and children typically adjust quickly to the situation.

TIPS TO MAKE THE MOST OF YOUR PARENTING TIME

1. You should never initiate or entertain conversations with your child that would allow him or her to believe the current visitation and custody arrangements will change. That decision is left to the court and the goal is for your child to feel happy and safe by trusting both parents. Allowing your child to believe that his or her visitation and custody arrangements are only temporary may cause irreparable harm and is not in his or her best interests.
2. Focus on being a good parent to your child(ren), rather than any negativity that led you to the current situation. The important thing is that you are spending time together.
3. Remember, any conflict is harmful to your child(ren). Keep the visit light and fun, creating positive experiences with them.
4. Do not quiz your child(ren) about the other parent's private life, activities, or relationships. You really want to focus your time on your relationship with your child(ren).
5. Do not make your child(ren) a messenger to the other parent. This pulls your child(ren) into your conflict, which is unhealthy for them.
6. Do not make promises to your child(ren) about future gifts, trips, visits, or changes in custody. If you cannot follow through, it may cause a lack of trust and unnecessary hurt.
7. Say brief, but positive good-byes at the end of your visit. You want your child(ren) to leave feeling good about the time he or she spent with you, rather than returning to the other party distraught.
8. Understand that your love, patience, and commitment will pay off and help you to have a better relationship with your child(ren) in the future.
9. Every parent wants what is best for his or her child(ren), but in a custody or visitation dispute, parents obviously disagree on what exactly "best" is.

WHEN CAN VISITS START?

Services may begin once the enrollment process and Child Orientation are complete. The enrollment process is not complete until both parties have completed their intake interviews, provided all required documentation, and paid their intake fee.

Enrollment Process

1. Both parties must contact Aardvark and schedule an intake interview to enroll in our services. Center staff will NOT contact the other party to schedule an intake interview.
2. Each party is responsible for their own intake fee regardless of who is ordered to pay for supervision fees unless the court order specifically states otherwise or an agreement is made between the parties.
3. All paperwork, required documentation, and fees from both parties must be submitted before the enrollment process is considered complete.
 - a. A court order, signed by the court official and which reflects an “Entered” stamp, is required before services may begin.
4. After the enrollment process is complete and before visitation begins, a Child Orientation will be conducted with each child participating in supervised visitation services.
5. After the Child Orientation is complete, both parties will be contacted by phone to let them know that the non-custodial party may now begin requesting visits.
6. In the event that services do not begin, the intake paperwork will only remain on file for six months. After that, the intake interview and intake fee will have to be completed again to have an active intake, or to start services.
 - a. We suggest that you maintain your copy of these policies and receipt for payment of the intake fee as proof of completing the intake interview. We will not provide verification that you have completed your intake, without a subpoena.
7. In the event that services started but have not been used for at least one year, both parties will have to re-enroll in services, including completing their intake, providing all required documentation and paying the intake fee.
8. Any change of address or phone number, home or office, emergency contact or individuals who can pick up or drop off must be reported immediately to AFS. Parties may be asked to update their contact information every three months but are responsible for keeping contact information current.
9. It is the responsibility of the clients to keep Aardvark informed of court dates and modifications in visitation made by the court. A copy of the modification orders must be provided to Aardvark as soon as possible after orders are finalized/approved.
10. If you wish to have concerns, events or comments documented for your file, you may put these in writing, and we will make sure it goes in your file. Staff will not document anything they did not witness firsthand.

Scheduling Visitation

1. All initial visits will occur on the premises of Aardvark, unless otherwise ordered by the court.
 - a. Only the non-custodial party may be present during the initial visit.
 - b. The initial visit is limited to one hour to allow time for the child(ren) to adjust to the new environment and situation.
2. Aardvark reserves the right to limit subsequent visits to an hour in length, increasing the length over time, if the child(ren) needs additional time to adjust. This determination will be made by Aardvark.

3. NON-CUSTODIAL: It is the responsibility of the non-custodial party to contact Aardvark staff to request a visit.
 - a. The non-custodial parent must call Aardvark no earlier than Sunday at 6:00 pm, and no later than Tuesday by 6:00 pm if they wish to have a visit that weekend.
 - b. Request for off-site visits and visiting relatives must be made at this time.
 - i. Approval for visiting relatives is required prior to every visit. Aardvark reserves the right to limit relatives until at least after the fourth visit and may refuse relatives on subsequent visits. There is a limit of two relatives on a visit.
 - ii. Visiting relatives are also required to follow these policies. If a visiting relative break any of these policies, they may be asked to leave the visit and may be denied future visits.
 - iii. Review the section “Off-Site Visitation” on page 9 as it pertains to scheduling.
 - c. The non-custodial party must call/message at least five business days in advance for a weekday visit. The custodial party must confirm at least two days in advance of the requested visitation day.
 - d. Text and/or email is the preferred method of coordination as we may not always be able to answer questions on the phone.
 - e. If the staff does not answer the phone, a message should be left on the voicemail. You may also choose to send an email or text message to our main line. Please leave your name and the name of the oldest child, as well as any request you have for your visit, such as day, time, and visiting relatives or off- site requests.
 - f. Requests for visitation will not be processed if there is a balance on the account.
4. CUSTODIAL: Staff will begin attempting to contact the custodial party to confirm the visit once a request has been received by the non-custodial party. The custodial party must confirm the visit no later than Thursday by noon for weekend visits and two business days prior to a weekday visit.
 - a. If the staff does not answer the phone, a message should be left on the voicemail. You may also choose to send an email or text message to our main line. Please leave your name and the name of the oldest child, as well as whether you are confirming the visit or not.
 - b. If you are not confirming the visit, we will ask the reason the visit is not being confirmed so that we may document that as well as inform the other party. Please provide a doctor’s note in the event of an illness.
 - c. If staff doesn’t receive a call back from the custodial party Thursday by noon for weekend visits or two business days prior to a weekday visit, the visit will not be processed.
 - d. The custodial party is not apprised by Aardvark of visiting relatives or off-site visits.
5. NON-CUSTODIAL: Once the visit is confirmed by the custodial party, staff will call the non-custodial party to receive verbal confirmation of the visit. A visit will not be scheduled until verbal confirmation is received from both the custodial and non- custodial parents.
 - a. If the non-custodial party does not receive a call back from staff about the visit, it means the visit was not scheduled.
 - b. Record of visit coordination is retained and is subject to subpoena in the event of passive non-compliance.
6. All phone conversations and phone call attempts are documented.

7. While every attempt is made to arrange visits based on both parties' available time, Aardvark reserves the right to change visitation times based on staff and room availability.
8. Aardvark reserves the right to limit the length of a visit if the child(ren) appears overly stressed or traumatized. In many situations an adjustment period is necessary, with the length of the visit increasing as the child(ren) becomes more comfortable.

Cancellations

1. Cancellations / rescheduling must be made at least 48 hours in advance.
 - a. Notice of less than 48 hours will result in a $65.00 cancellation fee, which must be paid before future visits can be scheduled.
 - b. After three cancellations, your case will be reviewed by Aardvark before additional visits are scheduled.
 - c. Cancellations with less than 48 hours arising from an emergency may be exempt from a cancellation fee. Documentation must be provided to Aardvark and will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis.
 - Please be aware that an emergency must directly affect the child(ren) of the supervising and not the custodial.

Arrival and Departure

1. Parties need to call if they are going to be late. Failure to call can result in the cancellation of a scheduled visit.
2. Aardvark reserves the right to determine and/or change the arrival and departure procedure on a case-by-case basis.

6. Aardvark will take any stated or implied statement regarding "child snatching" or physical threats seriously. All incidents will be documented, and the appropriate officials notified.
7. Aardvark staff will not administer medication to a child. All medications related to a child are to be given directly to Aardvark's staff at the time of arrival. Explicit directions for medication must be included. These directions will be given to the non-custodial, who is then responsible for administering the medication.
8. Aardvark is not an investigative service and does not physically inspect children. Only obvious injuries or child-initiated reports may be noted and/or documented.
9. Aardvark will summon law enforcement if a party becomes verbally or physically abusive or threatens an employee or other individuals present.

11. Parties are expected to take care of and be responsible for their child(ren) during the visits, including setting limits and providing appropriate discipline when needed without the use of physical discipline.

Off-Site Visitation

9. During off-site visitation, the non-custodial party is responsible for any transportation and expenses required to keep the supervisor with the family, this includes meals, park admissions, etc.

CANCELLATION/NO-SHOW POLICY

We understand that situations arise in which you must cancel your appointment. It is therefore important that if you must cancel your appointment, you provide 48 hours' notice. This will enable adequate time to inform the other party of the cancellation and as well as another client who is waiting for an appointment to be scheduled at that appointment time.

Appointments must be canceled 48 hours in advance excluding holidays. For instance, if calling to cancel for a Monday appointment, the cancellation must be by Friday. If canceling over a holiday itself does not count as normal business hours. Canceling under 48 hours will be deemed a late cancellation. In the case of a late cancellation, a full session charge will be made directly to the office by the canceling party using the credit card on file.

Parties who do not show up for their appointment without a call to cancel an appointment will be considered as a no-show. Parties who no-show three (3) or more times in seven (7) scheduled sessions may be held in contempt of the supervised court order. Aardvark reserves the right to inform the court and/or an appointed Guardian ad Litem on the case, at any point, if supervisor reasonably believes a notice or report necessary.

We understand that special unavoidable circumstances may cause you to cancel within 48 hours. Cancellations due to child(ren) or other party illness MUST be verified by a physician in writing. The physician's note must be submitted at the next scheduled session for the cancellation fee to be waived upon case-by-case review by AFS management.

In the event of dangerous weather, AFS may cancel the visitation appointment. If either party is unable to attend the session due to dangerous weather, AFS must be notified 5 hours prior to the scheduled session in order for the visitation to be excused. Otherwise, it will be considered a no-show.

AFS reserves the right to cancel a session if adequate supervision cannot be provided due to unavailability of staff. AFS also reserves the right to deny services when safety of the child(ren), parties, or AFS staff cannot be reasonably ensured.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

1. This is a service-related organization. As such, we reserve the right to refuse service to those who do not abide by our policies. Any alterations or additions to the policies will be provided promptly. Failure to comply with the stated policies and/or contract will constitute termination of services.
2. You will be given a copy of these policies at intake to maintain for your records. You will be charged applicable copying fees for any additional copies. It is recommended, and your responsibility, that you provide a copy of these policies to your attorney.
3. This Agreement may be terminated by any party by giving notice in writing to the other parties; however, such a termination by a conservator may be contrary to a Court Order and legal advice should be sought prior to such action.
4. None of the interactions, conversation, or activities at Aardvark are fully confidential but we will use every effort to ensure privacy between the parties and protection to child's rights.
5. Visitation times are specific, and the conservators agree that they will be prompt in their observance. No person other than those named shall attempt to take possession of any child(ren) on behalf of any conservator, unless authorized by the conservator in writing prior to the possession.

Should performance of Aardvark be interrupted by any occurrence which is beyond the control of Aardvark, Aardvark shall be excused from performance of its obligations and undertakings so long as such condition continues in existence.
8. This document is considered a living document and shall be therefore kept up to date in light of experience. It is designed to be regularly reviewed and updated as circumstances change, or new information becomes available.
